

◆ GETTING STARTED

Depending on the nature of your business, its location, and the amount of work you plan to do to the property, you will need to contact one or more of Burlington's departments and boards. The first place you should contact is the Building Department. They will guide you through the following steps.

To learn whether your proposed use and location conforms to zoning laws, contact the Building Department and/or the Planning Board. The Zoning Bylaws and Maps are on-line at www.burlington.org. Use variances are not allowed in Burlington. Some uses are only allowed by Special Permit issued by the Planning Board.

◆ BUILDING PERMITS

If you are doing ANY construction you will need a Building Permit. Check out the Building/Development Process Handbook at the Building Department's webpage.

◆ SIGNS AND EXTERIOR CHANGES

◆ PLANNING BOARD

The Planning Board is responsible for making decisions on site plans, site plan waivers, subdivisions, minor engineering changes, and special permits. For more information and applications, see the Planning Board webpage.

◆ ZONING BOARD OF APPEALS

You must first obtain a letter of denial from the building inspector. Zoning Board of Appeals applications are available from the Town Clerk's office or on-line at www.burlington.org. Any Special Permit, Subdivision, or Variance that has been approved by the Planning Board or Board of Appeals is subject to a 20-day appeal period (after the decision has been filed with the Town Clerk). After the appeal period, the applicant must have the decision certified by the Town Clerk then recorded at the Registry of Deeds in Cambridge and return the signed receipt to the Building Department with all required documents.
